

IN FUTURE

LEARN PROGRAMMING - FOR FUN AND THE FUTURE

Kenny Smith
1000 Lakeside Ave.
New York, N.Y. 10019

Account No. 6589346

Thank you for your letter of the 11th July. I think you will find my reply satisfactory with regard to the amount outstanding on your account and I shall be grateful if you would re-examine the account and submit any statement.

I would like to take this opportunity to ask if you could send me your latest catalogue and price list. I believe the prices in the catalogue I held at the moment are probably both considerably out of date and I will soon be placing another order with you. I thought that the list of household goods contained in your last catalogue was somewhat limited and I regret that you carry very few of the electric goods available on the market.

Also, I thought that much of the tableware and glassware in the shops are now full of broken pieces and the dishes which look ideal on the shelves. I trust that when I receive your new catalogue your stock has been considerably increased at this point in continuing with the account by post will be obliterated by the new goods.

If the new catalogue is not yet available within the next few weeks, I will be sorry to hear that the new edition is in print. If it is, however, it would be helpful if you could send it to me immediately and I can then see what can be done about being levied on the new goods. I trust this can all be sorted out and I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours faithfully,
Mrs. J. Smith